Digital China will receive support from the national independent innovation demonstration zone in the Z-Park for development into an enterprise with market value of hundreds of billions dollars

(26 April 2010, Hong Kong) Digital China Holdings Limited ( “Digital China” or the “Group” ; Stock Code: 00861.HK), a leading integrated IT services provider in China, is pleased to announce that the Group was chosen by the national independent innovation demonstration zone in the Zhongguancun Science Park (Z-Park) as one of the targets to be developed into enterprises with market value of hundreds of billions dollars, mainly due to its rapid growth, outstanding operating results, excellent innovation capability and good corporate governance practice.

In order to carry out the State Council’ s decision to accelerate the expansion of the national independent innovation demonstration zone, the Z-Park has implemented a project aiming at developing more than 200 leading enterprises with certain scales and innovation capability into influential enterprises with market value of hundreds of billions dollars, enterprises with market value of tens of billions dollars which will drive the market growth, and rapidly expanding enterprises with market value of billions dollars, respectively. They will receive tailor- made policy and resources support. The companies which are chosen to be developed into enterprises with market value of hundreds of billions dollars include Digital China, Lenovo, Nokia and Beijing Founder, while those will be developed into enterprises with market value of tens of billions dollars include Potevio, Tsinghua Tongfang and Sinovel Wind. The companies which will be developed into enterprises with market value of billions dollars include Huawei, Oracle and Ultrapower Software. The management committee of the Z-Park will provide support to targeted companies on various areas such as market development, enhancement of innovation capability, talents recruitment and motivation of talents, development of R & D and production bases, listing and M&A, brand building, development of intellectual property and standards upgrading.

Ms. Wycee Liu, spokesperson of Digital China, commented, “It’s a strong drive force and of great significance to us that Digital China will receive support from the Z-Park for our development into an enterprise with market value of hundreds of billions dollars. Under the government’s significant support, we will speed up the strategic transformation towards IT services and continue to improve our innovation capability, with an aim to become an enterprise with market value of hundreds of billions dollars and a leading IT company with global influence.”
